Our Success: Our People

For our manufacturing clients, we carefully recruit, screen and select our personnel based on their proven experience in providing proactive security and loss prevention services to industrial clients, their ability to work well in a high profile manufacturing setting and their capacity to demonstrate the success factors that have been specifically developed for each position and shift.

Our manufacturing/plant sector “culture match” process takes into account an officer's personality, skill set, talents and interests and matches these with the unique requirements of the manufacturing client we serve and each position to be staffed. Our recruiting sources include the military, law enforcement, industrial security, safety and loss prevention fields.
